

Announcements and News from Miss Trenkamp

Next week, the students will continue studying Moses and the Ten Commandments in Religion. On Friday, the students will be watching Prince of Egypt, in class. In science, the students will look at how Earth cycles materials through the rock cycle. In social studies, the students will learn about the mumification process and how the pyramids were constructed. In math, the students will complete the chapter on solving equations. In reading, the students will begin their next unit on mysteries. They will begin reading Westing Game. Additionally, the students will focus on using inferencing strategies as they read.

I enjoyed touching base with you through conferences this week. The students all have amazing gifts and talents that will lead them to success in the future.

This weekend, the March Is Reading Month calendar will be emailed home. The students will be working toward a class goal of 2,400 pages. The students have a copy of the March calendar to help keep track of how many pages they are reading each day. I ask that you initial on Tuesday, Thursday, and Sunday to verify these pages being read at home. If the students meet their goal, they will have a few prize options to pick from!

Throughout the year, I love to support the students outside of the classroom as well. If the students happen to have a home event for an extra curricular, I would love to attend. Please email me possible dates and locations as they come up!

Blessings,

Jordan Trenkamp

What did we do last week?

This week in religion, the students the students learned about the origin of the Passover feast and the ten plagues of Egypt. In social studies, the students discussed the social pyramid of Ancient Egypt, the writing system, and their trading system. In science, the students modeled the rock cycle by transforming starbursts into igneous, sedimentary, and metamorphic rocks! In math, the students solved one-step equations. In reading, the students concluded their biography unit by looking at the Saints.
