

Announcements and News from Miss Trenkamp

This coming week, the students will bring their school year to a close with various STEM challenges, reflection activities, logic puzzles, cleaning day, and celebrate one last Mass together. The students will also have the opportunity to play a game of kickball with the current seventh grade class that will become their classmates next year.

With the year coming to a close, I will be checking in text books, library books, and other classroom resources. If your student has a material at home please return it back to school this week.

The students are beginning to feel the summer itch. I am working with them to continue putting forth their best effort and following all classroom expectations until the last day we are together. While this day is quickly approaching, I am appreciative of the time we still have left together.

I hope you all are able to use the summer to recharge and enjoy time together. I know although the school year is coming to a close, the students have great things ahead of them. They all have wonderful individual gifts that can be used to make a change in the world.

Blessings,

Jordan Trenkamp

What did we do last week?

This week, the students helped lead a Living Rosary for the school in honor of Mary for the month of May. In science, the students created games for different Earth Science topics. In social studies, the students created historical fiction stories for Medieval Europe, and looked at other snapshots in history. In math, the students finished the year by collecting data and creating different graphs. In reading, the students have worked on identifying key details using different articles.
